

Selected Yearly Records for 2011

Preliminary Data

The following are annual records broken or tied at selected stations for the year 2011, representing the warmest, wettest, coolest or driest calendar years on record for the location. This list was compiled from National Weather Service "Record Event Reports", and from cooperative observer locations with at least 60 valid years on record. This list should be considered preliminary and incomplete; December data from paper-based recording stations (about one-third of the reporting network) has not been fully processed, and final quality assurance has not been performed on the 2011 data. When the data are complete, the final number of stations with new annual records will likely be slightly larger.

Selected Annual Climate Records for 2011

The following pages contain the values associated with each location on the map above. All data should be considered preliminary until complete quality assurance can be performed.
